Dom Where are we, Eva?
Eva I don't know. We're lost. We're walking in circles, I think.
Dom I need food! I'm really hungry now. Have you got any biscuits in your bag, Eva, or any chocolate?
Eva Sorry, Dom. I'm hungry, too! But we haven't got any food with us at all, or any water. ... I'm starting to feel very thirsty.

The children are walking under a different tree. There's some big, red fruit on this one.

Eva Hey, look at this tree! Are those apples? They look nice.

Dom No, they aren't apples, but they're fruit. I can smell them! They smell fantastic!

The two children throw sticks up at the tree. At last some of the fruit falls down. Eva picks it up with both hands. She's really hungry now. Suddenly something is behind them, it's the alien again!

Eva Mmm. The smell is like cherries, or strawberries. I think we can eat this fruit. Would you like some, Dom?

Alien Stop! Don't eat that!

Eva is frightened. The fruit falls from her hands. Eva and Dom start to run, but the alien shouts again. He's pointing at the fruit on the ground.

Alien Wait! That fruit is the most dangerous thing on our planet. It's called the Black Fruit! It tastes very good, but if you eat it, terrible things happen.

The children stop running.

Dom The Black Fruit? That's a strange name.

Eva Look, Dom! The grass under the fruit is black. It's dead!

Eva looks at the alien again.

Eva You helped us. But why? Who are you?
